

Sandi Johnson, Director

Sandi Johnson is a former English teacher in the Philadelphia Public School System. Her very first assignment was at Central High School where she taught for the first two years of her teaching career. She then taught at the Philadelphia High School for Girls for more than 35 years.

During those years, Sandi taught Advanced Placement and Honors English, began the Career Day Program, sponsored 3 classes, (219, 232 and 244), sponsored the Magazine Sale Fundraisers, directed Girls High Drama for over 15 years, worked as the Graduation Flower Coordinator and prepared the Graduation Program booklet in addition to many other things. She retired in 2006 as the coordinator of the school's prestigious International Baccalaureate Program.

Sandi is an HBCU cum laude graduate who earned her B.A. in English in 1969 from Virginia Union University. She then pursued a M. A. in Teaching from Temple University, graduating with honors in 1971.

A member of Grace Baptist Church of Germantown for almost 54 years, she wears many hats: Chair of the Board of Christian Education, Editor and Publisher of The Grace Beacon, and for more than 15 years, Director of Grace Drama Ministry.

The energy and ability formerly used in her teaching career have been transferred to working to build God's Kingdom in her home church.
